Page 58.

The Co-operative town bank has developed into a District Co-operative Bank, with its registered office at Jaunpur. All registered Co-operative Societies in the district are now financed, audited, and supervised by this district bank, which is managed by a board of directors, with the Collector of the district as the ex officio Chairman. None of the Societies are now financed by the Dube Estate or any other private individual. In 1924, the total number of Working Societies was 137, and that of Societies under liquidation 46, out of which 21 have since been closed down.

For "The leading firm... ..Shiekhs," substitute—"The manufacture of perfumes is practically in the hands of the local Mussulmans, the leading firm being that of Sajjad Husain Khan."

Pages 67, 68, and 69.

Under "Provincial roads" add the words "and maintenance" after "upkeep," in the first sentence and delete the whole sentence beginning with "The former authority....." and ending with "..... local funds." The complete transfer of local roads from the Public Works department to the District Board was effected from October, 1924. Between the words "Dohrighat" and "and" insert "the road from Jaunpur to Benares, the Naigang road," and for "45 miles" read "65 miles."

Under "Local Roads," it has to be noted that the metalling of the local road from Janghai to Machhlisahar was completed in 1912, and the road from Jaunpur to Benares was provincialized in April, 1910 as a part of the Lucknow-Benares road.

For "151 miles" now read "140 miles" and for "390 miles," and "587 miles" substitute "415 miles" and "620 miles" respectively.

At the end of the paragraph for "Bridges and ferries," add "of late years, however, there has been a tendency for increase as a result of general competition among bidders and the average annual income for the last ten years ending in 1923-24 was about Rs. 19,500."

Chapter III. Page 73.

In the paragraph for "Census of 1901" substitute the word "next" for "last," and after this paragraph add the following two new paragraphs:—

Census of 1911.—The Census of 1911 showed a further decrease of 5.9 per cent. as compared with that of 1901, the total population being 1,156,254. But such was the case in all the eastern districts. This was mainly due to high mortality caused by plague and fever. The density fell to an average of 746 to the square mile, the average for the Benares division being 461. Of the five tahsils, Jaunpur came out first with a density of 881, followed by Kerakat with 783 and Mariahu with 752, while Shahganj showed 695 and Machhlishahr 657.

Census of 1921.—In spite of the heavy toll taken by an epidemic of influenza in 1918, when mortality reached the record figure of 90.10 per thousand, the population, as recorded in 1921, was 1,155,105, that is to say, only 1,149 below that of 1911. The density remained practically the same, namely 745 to the square mile, and the relative position of the various tahsils was much the same. It is interesting to note, however, that the net variation in population during the period 1872 to 1921, is on the plus side by 129, 144.

At the end of the paragraph for "Towns and Villages" add the following:—

"The number of inhabited towns and villages in the census of 1921, was 3,141, as against 3,176 of 1911, of which only Jaunpur city and the towns of Machhlishahr and Shahganj contained a population of over 5,000. The total urban population in 1921 was 7.1 per cent. of the whole."

Under "Sex" add "recorded in 1901" after "total population," and insert the following after second sentence:—

"The subsequent censuses of 1911 and 1921 have also shown a steady increase in the number of females in this district, Mariahu tahsil heading the list."
